

Capt. Davis' Death Reported by Navy

Visited Mother at Montgomery Apts. Last Month

The death of Captain Willard Davis, Jr., of Narberth, in the torpedoing of his ship in the Gulf of Mexico on May 18, was announced by the Eighth Naval District at New Orleans May 29.

Five other men also were killed when Davis' ship, described as a medium-sized cargo vessel, was struck on the port side by three torpedoes. One of the dead was First Mate John Egan, of Chester; another was Second Mate John D. Holmes, of Port Arthur, Tex.

Twenty-nine survivors were rescued and landed at Mobile on May 22 after being in the water 39 hours.

Captain Davis, who was 32, was the only child of Mrs. Alice Davis, of the Montgomery Court Apartments, Narberth. Her husband died 10 years ago. Captain Davis was graduated from Northeast High School, Philadelphia, and from the schoolship, Annapolis, in 1928.

The torpedoing was Davis' second encounter with an enemy submarine, the Navy disclosed. Last March his ship was attacked by a sub in the Atlantic, but escaped.

His mother said he was home for two days last month, but did not tell her of his escape in the Atlantic.

Sieber Captures Suburban Crown

Lower Merion Star Wins Pole Vault; Maroon Places 3d

With Merle Sieber turning in the outstanding performance, Lower Merion High School's track and field team completed its season by placing third in the Suburban Championships at Norristown last Friday night. The Maroon tallied 31 points. Upper Darby won the Class A title with 51 points and Cheltenham was second with 39.

Sieber took the pole vault title with a leap of 11 feet 11 1/4 inches, just an inch and one-quarter shy of the school record.

Walt (Gump) Holland was the other leading Maroon performer, placing second in both the high jump and broad jump.

Other Lower Merion point makers included: Toebe and Young who placed fourth and fifth in the shot put; Barr, who placed third in the discus and javelin; Zimmerman, who placed fifth in the discus; Warner, who took fourth in the pole vault; and Reed, who was second in the javelin.

As a result of his victory, Sieber qualified for the Penn. invitation meeting of champions at Franklin Field on Tuesday, but the best he could do against the best vaulters in the greater Philadelphia district was a tie for third place. Incidentally, the Suburban Conference representatives walked off with the most individual titles for the second straight year, winning six events. The Catholic League took five firsts, the Interac and Public Leagues one apiece.

Lower Merion's baseball season came to a close last Wednesday a week when Upper Darby handed the Maroon a 10-2 setback in a postponed game at Upper Darby. Greer Heindel pitched good ball for four innings, then weakened in the fifth and sixth to permit the Upl-Dahs to bunt most of their ten hits for nine of their runs. Ward Kane led the L. M. attack with two hits.

Borough Man Lost With Patrol Boat

A telegram from the U. S. Navy Department yesterday informed Mr. and Mrs. William C. Hook, 523 Brookhurst av., Narberth, that their son, William C. Hook, Jr., former star basketball player for Lower Merion High School and the University of Pennsylvania, was missing.

Hook, a graduate of Lower Merion in 1938, enlisted in the Navy in March after being graduated with a special diploma from Penn. He was serving aboard the U. S. S. Cythera, converted yacht commanded by Lieutenant-Commander Thomas W. Rudderow, of Highland lane, Bryn Mawr. Rudderow was former captain of the Port of Philadelphia and former head of the Pennsylvania Maritime Academy.

The Navy's telegram informed Mr. and Mrs. Hook that the vessel was a month overdue and must be considered lost.

Offers Bee Hive To Rotary Club

Pharmacy Professor Speaks on Uses of Soy Bean

Providing he would come after it William H. Decker, Lower Merion school director, offered any member of the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club a lively swarm of bees. The offer was made at the Tuesday luncheon meeting of the Club at the Overbrook Golf Club.

Decker explained that the bees had swarmed about one of his trees and he had transferred the bees to his backyard where he had them under a screen. You had to know something about bees to take them away, Decker said.

It is understood that one of the members accepted the offer after the luncheon.

The speaker was William J. Stonback, professor at the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy.

Stonback told of the soy bean and its many uses. He said there were 700,000,000 acres planted during the past ten years and that the yield was 90 to 100 tons.

Out on the West Coast, Professor Stonback said, the bean was being used to make milk. Orders were taken and deliveries made the same as in the handling of cow's milk, he explained.

Dr. Richard Mears, president of the club, presided.

American Spirit To Win War, Salvage Peace, Says Titus

The adaptability of American business and our pioneering spirit have solved the problems of accentuated war production and can be counted upon to chart our way when peace comes, declared Robert E. Titus, at the 34th annual banquet of the Montgomery County Manufacturers Association in Norristown last week.

Titus, who is president of the Association, lives in Rosemont. There were 540 manufacturers and their guests at the banquet.

HE'S READY TO GO AGAIN

HENRY DOLL

Narberth's only Civil War Veteran is ready to serve again if the U. S. Navy can be persuaded to act on his enlistment application. "I'm willing to do anything they want to put me on," said Doll, who is 94, "but I don't know why I haven't heard from them." To pose for the picture above he borrowed a sailor's blouse and cap at the Naval Hospital where he is recovering from a fall he had last November while working about his house at 215 Iona av.

'Mike' Cooke Wins 1st Prize In Memorial Day Parade

Michael Cooke and his bicycle, bearing a sign "We did it once—we can do it again," won first prize in the Narberth Memorial Day parade.

Other awards in the bicycle parade contest went to Margaret Robb and Joseph Hutton.

Michael is the seven-year-old son of Arthur Cooke, American Legionnaire, who lives at 207 Lantwyn rd. In the parade Michael wore the helmet and gas mask that his father used when he was overseas in the first World War. The five dollars award he turned over to his sister Patricia, 16, for safe-keeping. He expects to spend all of it to buy defense stamps.

Narberth's Memorial Day parade was one of the largest in the history of the Borough. Besides the floats and other formations, there were three drum and bugle corps in line, two of them from the Bullock-Sanderson and Howard McCall Posts of the American Legion and the other from the Betsy Ross Corps, Philadelphia.

Two Gold Star Mothers—Mrs. John Smith and Mrs. Adam Thompson—marched in the parade also in the line-of-march were ten members from the Naval Unit of the U. S. S. Beaumont which is under construction at the Philadelphia Navy Yard.

Judges of the bicycle entries were Mrs. Wesley P. Dunnington, J. J. Whiteside and Ralph G. Dunne.

Gladwyne And Manoa Nines Draw Away From Loop Foes

Unless they're checked sharply within the next couple weeks, Gladwyne and Manoa are going to come very close to making the Main Line Baseball League a two-way race.

Gladwyne scored a double victory over the Memorial Day week-end to remain unbeaten, and thereby gain the inside track in the race. The Keyholes have won five in a row and have a three-game lead over every rival, except Manoa.

Gladwyne handed Manoa its first setback to the tune of 2-0, last Saturday, but Manoa bounced right back the next day to upset Narberth, 3-1, and is just a game behind Gladwyne's heels.

The Haverford Township team holds second place by a comfortable two games. Brookline, which lost both of last week-end's games and dropped from third to fifth place, will challenge Gladwyne on the latter's diamond on Saturday, while Narberth gets a crack at the leaders on Sunday at Narberth. Manoa will have the advantage of playing twice before its home fans, being slated to entertain Ardmore on Saturday and

County Committee Deposes Mrs. Huber

Lafore Resigns To Enter Navy; Boro Woman Elected Secretary

Mrs. John Y. Huber, Haverford, was dropped as vice-chairman of the Montgomery County Republican Committee at the Committee's reorganization meeting in Norristown last Thursday night.

Elected in her place was Mrs. Mary H. Beerer, Norristown, who is Montgomery County treasurer.

Represented either in person or by proxy were 335 committee men and women of the County who came to elect the officers who will direct the Republican Party affairs in the County for the next two years.

The failure of Committee members to reelect Mrs. Huber, who is president of the Lower Merion-Narberth Council of Republican Women, is attributed to the fact that she bolted the Lower Merion and Montgomery County Republican Organizations in the Spring primary campaign. Both the Township and County organizations supported the candidacy of U. S. Senator James J. Davis.

At the same time members of the Committee, after settling their family affairs, unanimously endorsed the Republican slate which is headed by General Martin for governor and John C. Bell, Jr., Wynnewood, for lieutenant governor.

The only officer of the Committee to be reelected was Lloyd H. Wood, Evansburg attorney, who was returned as Republican county chairman. Wood is also State representative from the County's Third Legislative District.

Aside from these officers the

Air Raid Siren Test on June 10

28 Wardens Stationed In Boro Will Report Results

Narberth Borough will test its air raid siren on June 10 sometime between 7:30 and 8:30 p. m.

When the test is made the siren will:

Blow for one minute;
Remain silent for two or three minutes;
Blow again for one minute.

At the time of the test 28 air raid wardens will be stationed in various parts of the Borough to record if the siren blast is "extra good," "good" or "poor."

After the first blast of the siren Chief Air Raid Warden Joseph L. Kelley wants the people to retire to their sleeping quarters to find out if the siren would be audible during a night air raid. If the siren is not audible on the second blast this should be reported to the neighborhood post warden.

The siren will be sounded from the rear roof of the Narberth Fire Company by Fire Chief Albert Nulty. If the test proves satisfactory the siren will be purchased and installed on a permanent rotating disc. It is believed that the rotating siren will reach all localities where dead hearing spots have been reported.

Plans for the test are being made by J. L. Minnick, head of the public utility unit of the Narberth Defense Council.

Assisting in preparations for the test is James A. McCaffrey, deputy air raid warden.

Plan Five-County Control Center

Will Marshal All Defense Forces In Case of Air Raid

Plans for a five-county control center have been approved by Delaware, Montgomery, Bucks, Chester and Philadelphia counties.

Defense officials in the counties will operate the control center which will be prepared to direct and concentrate medical aid or auxiliary services wherever they are needed during an air raid.

The cost of setting up and operating the control center, estimated at $15,000 for the remainder of the year, will be borne by the five counties.

Site of the control center will be Springfield Township in Montgomery County.

Colonel Andrews, chief engineer of the Philadelphia Transit Company, will be commander of the control center. In case of an air raid, requisitions for men, equipment and other materials will be sent to him. It will be the duty of the control center staff to marshal what help is needed and then to dispatch it to the danger point.

Chairmen of the defense councils in the five counties will make up a master council to direct the activities of the control center.

Fred C. Peters, president of the Montgomery County Board of Commissioners, presided at a recent meeting that was held in Norristown to discuss plans for the control center.

Dinner in Honor of Mr. and Mrs. Senft

On June 1, 1927 members of Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, Narberth, extended an invitation to the Rev. Cletus A. Senft to become pastor of their church. At the time of the call, the Rev. Senft was completing his senior year at Gettysburg Theological Seminary.

One June 1, 1942, members of the Church Council held a dinner at Watson's Tea Room, Bala, honoring Mr. and Mrs. Senft on the completion of 15 years of devoted service to the congregation.

Earl Hoffman paid tribute to the Senfts' loyalty and expressed the esteem in which they are held by the entire congregation.

On behalf of the Church Council, Mr. Hoffman presented the Rev. and Mrs. Senft with a silver pitcher. Following the dinner there was a brief business session, followed by a social hour.

ECONOMY NOW PREVENTS RATIONING LATER
As the war progresses rationing may be inevitable for many articles. How extensive it may become as a National policy, however, will depend on what economies we practice now and with what wisdom we live with an eye to the future. If we had started using less gasoline a year ago we would have had more to meet the emergency today. It is the same with other commodities.

Rationing may be determined by local factors which are far removed from the National war effort and such factors are affecting our water supply in suburban Philadelphia today.

A program of expansion, planned by the Philadelphia Suburban Water Company in 1939, was arrested by the war. This means, that despite increased demands for water, these demands will have to be met with present day facilities. Likewise, it is not hard for any of us to see that if an emergency occurs in which great quantities of water are used we will need all our water resources.

Uncontrolled and, in some cases, unscrupulous sprinkling of lawns and gardens is one of the greatest menaces to the maintenance of satisfactory water pressure at all points. Leaking taps and other thoughtless wasting of water further aggravate the problem.

Water, a vital product for nutrition, health and sanitation, is the last product we want to see rationed in any form. There is no danger of such steps being taken but economy in the use of water now will guarantee that these steps will never be taken.

Letters To The Editor
To the Editor:
Council President Roland Fleer will prove himself a very charitable man if he permanently overlooks the self-righteous procedure which involved him in an unpleasant episode and which provided another contribution to that provincial stupidity which has too often diverted Narberth from achieving its best estate.

Personally responsible, and particularly so in view of Mr. Fleer's willingness to pay the costs out of his own pocket if the impartial review of the facts had indicated he had attempted to exceed in any respect the rights which are due him as a tax-paying citizen.

Hence, if Mr. Fleer were called upon to pay if he lost, his adversaries (they were nothing else) should obviously pay if they lost, assuming the thing called a code has not been shattered completely by those who started the ill-advised and unwarranted rumpus in the first place.
J. J. CABREY.

"Victims" In Blankets and Splints Real Heroes at First Aid Drill
Wynnewood Group Wins Award for Best Treatment Work
Between 350 and 400 advanced first aiders, armed with splints, bandages and blankets, met at the Lower Merion Senior High School on May 26 for an evening of instruction and competition. The program, under the supervision of Albert Turner, Wynnewood, opened with the showing of the Red Cross film. This was followed by remarks by Frank Holt, Southeastern Pennsylvania Chapter. Holt explained the purpose of a First Aid Detachment, and announced the authorization of a new detachment—from the Philadelphia Suburban Water Company—and presented arm bands to its 22 members.
Perhaps the only members of the audience who might not have voted the evening a complete success were the "victims," who encased in blankets, splints, and bandages, must have spent some moments of discomfort.
First Aid graduates were divided into squads. Each squad was given one of four problems in First Aid concerning the injuries suffered by an accident victim. Using the corridors outside the auditorium, the squads set to work on their "cases" and the instructors, who were acting as judges, went from group to group deciding which squad was handling its problem with good judgment and skill. The four best squads were selected and transferred to the stage where a new problem was presented to them. The award for the best work was presented to the group headed by Mrs. Herbert Painter of the Wynnewood Civic Association.

Draft Board Wants To Be Doubly Sure

The Philadelphia papers on Thursday reported that the solitary piece of mail received by a soldier of the A. E. F. in Belfast, Ireland, consisted of a summons from his draft board to appear for physical examination.

Something of the same sort occurred in Narberth last week when "Dick" Cabrey, inducted into the army on March 6, received a questionnaire from the local board in order to learn or to make doubly sure as to whether or not the young man had what it takes for Uncle Sam's service.

After several days at Camp Meade, Private Cabrey was shipped to Fort Bragg in North Carolina, where the Field Artillery units are in training. Hitting an IQ of 143 in his tests, he was selected for officers' training school and word came up from the South on Sunday that he had made the grade and would soon be sent to Fort Sill in Oklahoma for further studies.

JUDGE ORDERS ARD. BUSINESS GROUP TO BUY AMBULANCE WITH FUNDS RAISED

Scores Phila. Promoters For Fleecing Home Town People

Judge Harold G. Knight has instructed the Ardmore Business Men's Association to turn over funds they collected in the ambulance fund and defense exposition drive as a down payment on the purchase of an ambulance.
The difference between this amount, which is $939.66, and the cost of an ambulance, approximately $3200, will be raised by the relief organization that receives the money.
Instructions from the Court came after the three defendants in the ambulance fund case had pleaded guilty when the case was called in Montgomery County Court on Monday. They each received a fine of $200 and costs but no jail sentence was imposed.
Those fined were Roland W. Hill, 43, president of the Association, and two Philadelphia promoters, Samuel Bergdorf, 46, and Eugene Murphy, 56. The fines must be paid within three months.
According to evidence produced by the office of District Attorney Frederick B. Smillie there had been $3519 collected in the drive and $688.66 of this remained in the bank. Another amount, $250, had been set aside as payment on an ambulance which the Association had agreed to purchase from the Main Line Pontiac Company.
The arrests were made on April 23 when Lower Merion police swooped down on the Ardmore headquarters of the Association's ambulance fund and seized their books in a daylight raid.
In imposing fines on charges of soliciting funds without licenses and, in the case of the Philadelphia promoters, of fraudulent conversion, Judge Knight said:
"I've said many times from the bench that local organizations do a great wrong when they allow such campaigns to be conducted under their name. They permit drives to be made so people may be fleeced. Bergdorf and Murphy have no interest in the local community. Such men entered in the guise of charity and it's even worse in this case. They were working under the guise of patriotism."

"WAIT A Minute PLEASE!"
OF COURSE, all telephone calls should be answered promptly. But sometimes it takes the person you're calling a few extra seconds to reach the telephone.
Thousands of calls are missed every day because the person calling hangs up just a second too soon.
So we suggest: Answer your telephone as promptly as possible, but wait at least 60 seconds when calling someone else.

Minute Man Flag Symbolizes Bell Employees Buy Bonds

A large Minute Man flag, an official emblem of the United States Treasury Department, was unfurled Monday, June 1, at the office of the Bell Telephone Company, 45 Anderson av., Ardmore, to symbolize that more than 94 per cent of Bell employees are buying War Bonds through the payroll deduction plan.
Unfurling of the flag was coincident with a similar flag display and the presentation of a United States Treasury Department certificate of award to the Bell Company at the company's headquarters in Philadelphia. The certificate was presented by Benjamin Ludlow, State Administrator.
Herbert J. Bruder, district manager for the Bell Company said the latest report shows that 94 per cent of all Bell of Pennsylvania employees are participating.
The flag of honor, which is to be displayed for one week, shows in white against a blue background the familiar figure of an alert Minute Man.

READING & WRITING

BY Edwin Seaver AND Robin McKown

FOR the first time since the Book-of-the-Month Club started, it has selected a book after publication date. This book is Alexander P. de Seversky's "Victory Through Air Power." The Club's judges considered this book so important toward clarifying public opinion as to how the war has to be won that they decided to distribute it immediately, along with the book previously announced, Franz Werfel's "The Song of Bernadette."

William Allen White, one of the judges, states: "It is advisable for laymen to remember on reading 'Victory Through Air Power' that on one point—his advocacy of a separate air force—Major Seversky's conclusions still remain a thesis in a controversial field. The crucial theme of this book is nothing less than the winning or losing of the war, and with so much at stake, jumping quickly to conclusions is a peace-time luxury we cannot now indulge. At the same time the central theme seems indisputable: that the war cannot be won unless a total supremacy in the air is achieved. This idea itself must achieve total supremacy in the minds of our war managers, or we shall never do all that is needed, and all that we can do, to bring the war to a successful conclusion for our side."

Seversky was the leading Russian ace in the first World War. He was adviser to the late General Billy Mitchell during the General's demonstration of the ability of aircraft to sink battleships, and was appointed consulting engineer to the War Department as a consequence. A leading airplane designer and long an exponent of a unified air command, Seversky pioneered in high altitude combat tactics; developed and built the first turbo-supercharged air-cooled engine. He likewise designed the world's first fully automatic bombsight. He likewise designed and built the world's fastest amphibian plane, the first low-wing basic training plane for the U. S. Army Air Corps, and is responsible for the development of American pursuit planes in their present form.

Philip Van Doren Stern, whose anthology "The Midnight Reader," contains fifteen masterpieces in ghost story literature, says that nothing is more infuriating to an intelligent adult than to read a ghost story that ends with a logical explanation of its mysteries. "No one wants to be made a fool of. Sheets and phosphorescent paint may serve to frighten children, but adults demand stronger stuff. They would rather believe that the phantom which made them shudder came from the very depths of Hell than from someone's box of manufactured tricks."

Any housewife who thinks she is abused because of sugar rationing should read "No Retreat," by Ann Rauschning, a book about life in Nazi Germany from the woman's viewpoint. Mrs. Rauschning's boy had to undergo a routine of fasting, exercise, and day-long hikes that his health couldn't stand. Her daughters were instructed that their sole purpose in life was to provide future soldiers for the Fuehrer. A mere minor annoyance was that she couldn't fire her cool who, in addition to being dirty and insolent, turned out to be a Gestapo spy.

Health Officer Reports Two Cases Of Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever

No Connection Seen Between Mild Forms of Disease That Occurred from Tick Bites in Same Ardmore Household; Victims Recover

The first cases of Rocky Mountain spotted fever to occur this year in this section of suburban Philadelphia were reported from Ardmore this week.

Both of the cases, which were extremely mild, developed in the same household. Location of the home, in which the cases occurred, was in Lower Merion Township, near County Line rd., which separates Delaware and Montgomery Counties.

Since about 1930, Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever has been recognized along the eastern coast and has now been diagnosed as far north as Massachusetts and as far south as Georgia. The increasing number of cases each year reported to the Public Health Service probably does not represent a spread but an increasing recognition.

Spotted fever is acquired by man from the bite of an infected tick. This tick in the east has been given the name of Dermacentor variabilis, more commonly known as the "dog tick." The history of spotted fever both in the east and in the west reveals that there are certain areas more heavily infected than others. It can be truthfully said that wherever there is the kind of tick, then spotted fever is potentially present.

Nine-year-old Thomas Roache, Jr., of 182 Edmond av., Ardmore, was the first victim reported to Lower Merion health authorities on May 29. He was admitted to Bryn Mawr Hospital.

A few days later his mother, Mrs. Katherine Roache, was admitted to the hospital with the same disease.

According to Mrs. Roache, Thomas was apparently bitten by a tick during a day spent in the woods near a golf course in St. Davids.

Mrs. Roache was sitting on her front porch when she noticed a tick on her forearm. She removed it and applied a local anesthetic but when a rash broke out she went to Bryn Mawr Hospital.

Health and hospital authorities agree that the case is one of pure coincidence, since the disease is not infectious.

Both cases were light and both mother and son have recovered completely and are now at home.

According to the health report in Lower Merion for the week ending May 29, mumps continue to lead the list of contagious diseases in the township, and scarlet fever appears to be dropping off. For the first time in many weeks no new cases were reported.

There were 37 cases of mumps, 21 chickenpox, three German measles, one tuberculosis and one whooping cough.

Memorial Day Trolley Accident Is Investigated

Haverford Township detectives are investigating the head-on trolley accident near Manoa last Saturday in which 52 persons were injured.

The trolleys, traveling on a section of single track of the West Chester line of the Philadelphia Suburban Transportation Co., came together on a steep hill-curve between Robinson av. and Lawrence d.

Detectives are interviewing passengers and investigating reports that a red and green block signal either failed to work or was ignored by one of the motormen. No charges will be brought unless criminal negligence is involved.

First aid workers from the Manoa Red Cross and members of the Haverford Township Defense Council Medical Corps assisted in the rescue work and first-aid treatment of the injured.

The injured were removed to the Delaware County Hospital, Fitz-herald-Mersey Hospital and the Bryn Mawr Hospital.

Among those treated for injuries were Earl Furtmiller, 6, 824 Buck lane, Haverford; Donald Culbert, 29, 38 Hastings av., South Ardmore; Janet Ann Culbert, 4, and Janet Culbert, South Ardmore; Leah Cadbury, 50, 156 Pennsylvania av., Bryn Mawr; Esther Carlson, 42, Brookwood Farm, Wayne.

How to Guard Against Rocky Mountain Fever

Prepared by the U. S. Public Health Service

Q—I have just removed a tick from my child; where and how can I determine if this tick is infected?

A—If the tick is infected with spotted fever and has bitten a person, that individual will contract spotted fever before the laboratory procedures can be completed.

Q—How should ticks be removed?

A—Ticks can be removed with the fingers, but a safer method is with forceps, or a small piece of cotton, paper, etc. If the ticks have fed and are full of blood, this blood may be infectious as is the excreta, so care should be taken not to crush the tick. The site of the tick bite should be painted with an antiseptic such as iodine, and the fingers or forceps dipped in alcohol or at least washed thoroughly with water.

Q—I have been bitten by a tick. When and how will I know if I am contracting spotted fever?

A—After the tick bite, there is a lapse of usually four to twelve days. Then a rather sudden onset, often with a chill, rapid rise in temperature, severe headache. One should immediately go to bed and call a doctor. About three to four days after the fever begins, there is seen an eruption, flat pinkish in color, small and distinct, noted usually first and most prominent on the arms and legs, later perhaps over the body including the face, soles of the feet and palms of the hands.

Q—Is there any serum or vaccine that one can take to prevent spotted fever?

A—The Public Health Service has discovered and developed a vaccine which following years of use, particularly in Montana, has proven to be of value. The vaccine is particularly advantageous in reducing the number of deaths and it is probable that the number of cases may also be reduced.

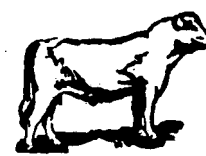

Q—Should I take the vaccine?

A—No broad generalization can be made on this point. Many circumstances must be taken into account before this advice can be given. It is absolutely impractical to attempt wide spread vaccination on a disease that infects so few of the general population. Vaccination must be limited to known infected areas and to those with the greatest exposure to ticks.

Four New Air Horns Are Installed

According to Frederick W. Dreher, chairman of the Defense Committee on Public Alarm Equipment, four new air horns have been installed on the tower of the Bryn Mawr Presbyterian Church, the tower of the High School Administration Building, a pole on the roof of the Cynwyd School and a pole opposite the two-story barn on the property of J. Greiner, Fairview rd.

All Federal "D" sirens have arrived and are in the Township garage. Hand sirens are expected to be shipped June 4. The bell in the tower of the Baptist Church at Church rd. and Young's Ford rd. has been equipped for use in the alarm system.

CALLING THE TURN

by L. M. FORD

Schoolboy track and field meets under the arc lights at night have excellent possibilities and probably will become very popular after the war.

That's the opinion of Henry Arthur Drumm, coach of the boys in athletics at Lower Merion, who believes the District One, PIAA and Suburban Championship meets at Norris-town were "not fair tests on account of war conditions."

"In some ways the night meets were fairly satisfactory," said Drumm yesterday, "but I don't believe the boys are quite sold on them. One of the disadvantages to them was the late return to home on account of the transportation problem."

"The meets could be improved by holding the field events earlier. I consider the weight event actually dangerous on account of the uneven light. I think the jumpers were under a definite handicap on account of poor light. That's the only answer I have for the performances. For example, Walt Holland has been broad jumping consistently 21 feet or better, yet in the Suburban meet last Friday night he reached 20 feet only once. And all but two of the contestants in Class A made only 19 feet or under."

"Fifth place in the high jump was taken with a mere 5 feet 1 inch, and a leap of only 5 feet 9 inches was needed to win the event."

"The vaulters didn't seem to be bothered, and I think this was due to the fact that their pit was right under a light. Our Merle Sieber cleared 11 feet 11 1/2 inches, which was just 1 1/4 inches off the school record held by Ralph Ross, former West Point star, who now is with the Army in Panama."

"One of the reasons I like night meets is that they give an occasional free Saturday for both the boys and coaches," said Drumm.

CHELLENHAM HALTED

Cheltenham High was handed its first defeat of the year in the Norris-town meet, missing its main goal—the Suburban Conference title—after having won the Villanova Interscholastics, the District One, Suburban Big Six and York Rd. Big Three crowns. Upper Darby took the Class A crown with ease, piling up 51 points, while the best Cheltenham could muster was 39. Lower Merion finished third, with 31, and Chester and Norris-town tied at 17. Haverford was next was 16; West Chester tallied 15; Abington, 4; Pottstown, 3 1/2; and Lansdowne, 1.

Swarthmore defeated Ridley Park for Class B honors, 51 to 46 1/2.

Cheltenham's defeat was a surprise generally, but was not unexpected to Drumm, who even figured Lower Merion had an excellent chance of upsetting the dose.

"I anticipated Cheltenham's downfall for two reasons," said Drumm. "They were: 1. The loss of Jim Morris, Cheltenham's ace sprinter, who was sidelined with a pulled tendon. 2. Upper Darby's always a 'late' team and usually is at its peak for this particular meet."

"I believe we would have come close to winning had we not fallen down in the broad jump and shot put. Then, again, West Chester didn't do as well as expected, and the places they failed to take aided Upper Darby."

Shouldn't a team that wins the District title almost always be assured of winning the Suburban crown?

"No, there is a bigger difference in the two meets than you'd imagine," explained Drumm. "The District meet is much larger and is more difficult to win. You need top stars to win the District meet, but you can take the Suburban meet merely with a well-balanced squad."

"Lower Merion has won the Suburban meet more often than any one else, yet several times we lost the District meet but wound up on top in the Suburban," concluded Drumm.

THAT'S THE SPIRIT!

It is gratifying to learn that the Suburban Conference has decided to go ahead with its full sports program for 1942-43, despite the difficulties resulting from the war.

Following a suggestion of the principals, who met a week ago, the league moguls decided at a meeting at Upper Darby on Monday to draw up their schedules as usual and agreed not to cancel any events unless it becomes absolutely necessary.

Possible changes in the realignment of leagues, which had been hinted by several coaches, were not even discussed.

The principals and coaches are to be congratulated upon their decision to carry on despite the handicaps in present-day transportation. That's the way it should be. It's the American way!

Gladwyne

team, 5-4, at Ardmore on Sunday. At the time the blow, only one of three granted the presettlers by Johnny Rorer, gave Gladwyne a 5-0 lead. This margin was almost wiped out by a furious Ardmore four-run rally in the eighth.

Highlight of this late uprising was a home run by Bill Smith, of Haverford High and Villanova College fame. It was his second round-tripper of the week-end. On Saturday he blasted one in the first inning, with one on, to help Ardmore dunk Overbrook, 5-3.

Jcey Burns, Narberth third baseman, also hit for the circuit. His came with two on in the seventh inning against Brookline on Saturday and was the major blow in an 8-0 victory. This game accounted for the week's best pitching performance, Koch and Tomlinson teaming up to allow Brookline only one hit. Koch gave up the lone bingle to outfielder Sacco while hurling the first three innings. Tomlinson hurled the final six innings.

As anticipated, the much heralded meeting of Gladwyne-Manoa on Memorial Day produced quite a pitching battle. Bill O'Donnell Gladwyne's ace, gained his third straight triumph by outtossing Bob Allison, Manoa veteran, who was a surprise starter. There wasn't much to choose between them, O'Donnell giving up just seven hits and Allison eight. However, Gladwyne succeeded in bunching several of its blows for single runs in the first and eighth innings, while O'Donnell was able to snuff out every Manoa scoring threat.

Millard Robinson, who had been expected to face O'Donnell, kept pace with the Gladwyne star by pitching Manoa to its Sunday victory at Narberth. Robbie held the boroughites to five hits and fanned six, as he turned in his third victory at the expense of Buddy Simmons. The latter was tagged for nine hits, Ted Westervelt and Chet Zercher getting two apiece to lead the attack, which netted single runs in the first, fourth and fifth innings.

Overbrook finally came out of its losing streak to upset Brookline, 4-1, at Manoa on Sunday.

OUT OF THE MOUTHS OF BABES

There is no doubt about it, this young daughter had something, when she suggested, "that mother would feel better if she didn't have to do the family wash."

The drudgery of washday takes a heavy toll of energy, there is no reason to be a slave to the wash tubs.

County Committee

Committee elected a treasurer and four secretaries but the election of a treasurer and one of secretaries was to fill vacancies caused by voluntary resignations.

Earl B. Bechtel, county prothonotary from Pottstown, was elected treasurer to succeed John A. Lefore, Jr., Merion, who resigned as he is expecting a call to active service in the United States Navy.

The new secretaries elected were Harold C. Pike, Cheltenham Township manager and chairman of the campaign committee that carried the County for Senator Davis in primary; Otto Quinke, Lower Merion, superintendent of the Montgomery County Park at Green Lane; Mrs. Anna K. White, active Republican worker in Narberth; and Mrs. E. Hel James, Lower Gwynedd, and an employee in the Recorder of Deeds office at Norris-town.

In nominating Wood for re-election Peter C. Hess, Lower Merion Township treasurer, said that "in the last two years he has filled the role with lots of good sense and understanding."

Burgess William R. Hendrickson of Norris-town nominated Mrs. Beer for vice-chairman and the nomination was seconded by Mrs. Mary F. Sidel, West Bryn Mawr committee woman.

Mrs. White was nominated for secretary by Mrs. Louise Voss Cockrell, Narberth committee woman, and John Batchelder, Narberth committee man.

Secretaries deposited were Isaiah T. Haldeman, Schwenksville; clerk in the County prothonotary's office; Joseph K. Weaver, Lansdale tax collector; and Miss Ethel Thomas, Worcester, who is in the office of John H. Hoffman, County register of wills; and Mrs. Ethel Boden, Pottstown, who voluntarily resigned because Pottstown had geographical representation in the election of Bechtel as treasurer of the County committee.

Phipps Gives Title In Suburban Discus

Haverford High School placed sixth in the Suburban track and field championships at Norris-town last Friday night, and had the satisfaction of producing one of the individual champions.

Dan Phipps gave Ford followers an opportunity to cheer when he won the discus with a heave of 126 feet 2 inches. Phipps also placed fifth in the javelin.

Other Haverford point makers included: George Johnson, who took second place in the pole vault; and Sieks, who was third in the same event.

Upper Darby won the Class A title with 51 points. Cheltenham was second with 39; Lower Merion finished third with 31 and Chester and Norris-town tied at 17. Haverford collected 16; West Chester, 15 1/2; Abington, 4; Pottstown,
